

FOR SALE

SOMETHING VERY SPECIAL

I am pleased to announce the sale of the Eyrie Bowrie Homestead.

Built in 1866 for Roger Seccombe. This distinctive building was the first two-storey dwelling in the district. It would have stood out at that time, as it still does today.

The house has 8 rooms of equal size that boast 3.2 metre ceilings, 1 of the rooms is being used as kitchen and the remaining are used as bedrooms, dining and lounge rooms.

Constructed of sandstock commons brick on a sandstone base; the brick is rendered with ashlar jointing designed to imitate stone.

The original baltic pine floors are present throughout with a Japanned floor finish -popular at the time as imitation of Japanese lacquered wood.

This is a home of grand proportions, a home from the days when they were built to last; one that will delight that special person who has penchant for yesteryear.
