BEAUTIFUL TIMBER/ IRON ORB HIGH SET HOUSE IN RAVENSHOE- CHARACTERISTIC OF THE MID-1900S

Welcome to this beautiful home with an external mix of Mini orb iron and hardwood timber, this is one of Ravenshoe's original homes.

Walking up the stairs, you first notice the unique hardwood door that adorns a stunning leadlight window pane; you enter into the entry room that could double as an office or reading nook, it has some timber shelving and lovely casement windows with original glass.

The 2-bedroom house has internal tongue and grooves walls and high raked ceilings throughout. The timber on the floors is very captivating and is the highlight of the home; it is two-toned with high contrast and one I have not seen often. The lighter timber in the flooring is silver ash. It is full of characteristics that really show the era of its build, and with some light renovation, it can easily transcend the existing beauty of the design.

The kitchen has a gas stovetop and electric oven, it is very spacious and has large timber-framed, glass panel windows. Allowing you to look straight out to the high-set back veranda, to view the huge 2023m² back yard, full of trees and birdlife.

The full-length lounge room is big enough so you could use it as a combined dining/living room, which would give you more kitchen space to include an island bench. The living room has a slow combustion fireplace perfect for Ravenshoe winters.

The bathroom is completely original and has an overhead shower/ bathtub, linen cupboard for towelling and standalone stainless-steel single sink.

Underneath the house is enclosed and lockable, it has its own toilet room and a small low roofed room that could become a teenager bedroom or craft room.
