Versatile is the best description for this home. Make it two, three or four bedrooms with a little imagination.

Shoji Japanese sliding walls are what make this home so versatile. Open rooms to make them part of the open plan living space or close them off for privacy. The choice is totally yours. With a massive open plan living space and one of the biggest kitchens ever this property allows you to grow in to it or you could redesign the interior and build a home of your preferred layout.

The building is placed towards the front of the block with a large swimming pool taking up much of the back yard. The front yard is still a good size and is fully fenced to the street frontage allowing a small garden space along with the driveway to the lock up garage.

Internally, it is the air conditioned open plan living space and massive open plan kitchen that dominate its features. This space can be added to be the pulling back of the Shoji screens to add the enclosed areas or not. The scope to re-design to ones perfect concept of space in a home is definitely there. With high ceilings and plenty of windows for natural light the feeling of spaciousness is exaggerated to the extreme.

The oversized kitchen provides a focal pointy to the home. With plenty of bench space, cupboards and storage facilities, there is mountains of room even for two cooks in the kitchen. Gas cooking, a large double stainless steel sink and space for a dishwasher, top this work space off.

All bedrooms are oversized, air conditioned and have large windows providing plenty of natural light. The master bedroom has a walk in robe and en-suite facilities. Out the back you will find a fully screened outdoor entertaining area that looks over the back yard and swimming pool. The pool is deep and stays relatively cool in summer. It has a pool safety certificate for its fencing and is surrounded by built up garden beds that could be made to look delightful year round or be converted in to vegetable patches if that is your thing.

All in all this is a house that needs to be inspected. If you just use your imagination you will see how delightful it is. Make your appointment for your private inspection quickly because this offering will not last long.
