TICK TICK TICK

If lifestyle for your family is your first priority when looking for your next home then i think you can stop looking and start living. The current young family owners are wanting to start traveling around Australia so have decided to sell this which was there dream home for the last 4 years. This property excited me from the very first visit when i found out it was not all it looks from the front garden and will have the same effect on you and your family and friends i am sure. Most people have quite a few things on the wish list when looking for that perfect home so lets see how you go with this one.

Yes this house does tick all the boxes and with its great location i am sure the only TICKS you now need to worry about is the TICK of the clock to make sure you get in and don't Miss out. Upper Caboolture is fast becoming the suburb to live for acreage lifestyle plus convenience for growing and already grown families. With land and building costs rising fast and waiting times for builders blowing out this is the opportunity for you and your family to eliminate the stress and move straight in.

The owners are hoping this home will mean the same to the new owners as it has to them for many years to come. The only way to really know if this house is for you is to visit us and have a look for yourself.
