GARDEN COTTAGE FULL OF CHARM & CHARACTER

About this space:

This garden cottage was a dream conceived a few years ago when the owner purchased the 547m² lot. Few could resist the charm of this quaint cottage house combining hardy planks exterior cladding, alluring verandahs, inviting entry and cosy interiors with a touch of quirky. The home is full of pieces collected over the years by the owner to add an eclectic vibe. It's easy to understand the appeal of owning a country cottage on an Island ... well now you can, right here on Macleay Island.

The owner has poured her soul into creating this pretty home surrounded by tropical gardens with a cottage feel to it, mixing lots of shrubs with colourful annuals. There is so much to love about this garden and much thought and care has been utilised in a very inventive way using colour, flower and foliage, form and texture to create an inspirational garden. Timber decks and outdoor log seating add to the atmosphere in this very private space.
