Considered architecture. An extraordinary waterfront setting.

51 Kurrawa Avenue, Point Clare

There is a particular ease to life on the waterfront. Morning light across Brisbane Water. Long lunches that drift onto the terrace. A changing outlook that gives you a reason to pause.

At 51 Kurrawa Avenue, considered architecture makes the most of that setting. Generous, penthouse-like proportions unfold towards the water, with soaring ceilings and full-height glazing bringing light and expansive views deep into the home.

Premium stone, bespoke joinery and designer lighting create a refined material palette, while clean contemporary lines allow the outlook to take centre stage. The beautifully appointed kitchen anchors the living spaces, keeping cooking, conversation and entertaining comfortably connected.

Multiple alfresco terraces extend the home outdoors, offering places to gather with friends or settle into a quieter moment. The master retreat enjoys its own serene water outlook, continuing the sense of privacy and calm.

As a permanent home, a Sydney escape or a base for a more flexible way of living, this is waterfront architecture with everyday ease. Point Clare's shops, cafés and rail connections are close by, keeping the city within reach.

A life less ordinary, at the water's edge.

* Absolute waterfront position with sweeping Brisbane Water views
* Expansive open-plan living with penthouse-like proportions
* Soaring ceilings and full-height glazing maximising light and outlook
